An Abstract:

DOES A SOUL HAVE A PLACE IN MODERN MEDICINE?

 Hudoba P, MD, FRCS; Rulin Xiu, PhD; Zhi Gang Sha, MD (China)

There has been an upsurge of new concepts of treatment in recent decades. Words like “integrative,” “complementary,” “alternative” and “holistic” now permeate not only the healthcare field, but also everyday discussion.

The authors of this paper are proposing to return to a previous model of medicine, one which has existed in Europe and other cultures for millennia. The model is to combine physical and psychological treatment with spiritual practices.

Dr. Hudoba, Dr Rulin and Dr.Sha discuss the power of soul as an adjunct healing modality to conventional standard medical treatment. They propose a non-denominational and non-religious alternative: the healing power of Soul, enhanced by Divine love and light. This paradigm has been common to almost all cultures and all religions.

Mind over matter is powerful, but it is not enough. Soul over matter is the ultimate power. The soul has the power to heal. The healing power of the soul can be tremendously enhanced through channeling Divine Love and Light. This power can be used in conjunction with any and all other treatment modalities. Soul Power empowers healthcare professionals by providing new wisdom and knowledge. Soul healing practices can be taught to clients to support and enhance their healing process. The authors present practical techniques utilizing Soul Power that are very simple, powerful and effective. Results can be achieved quickly.

The authors support their presentation with examples of their clinical research using the power of soul in the healing of cancer and in development of human being.
